Fr JACK

The blind man is told by the crowd to keep quiet and not to be annoying Jesus.

Yes, people with "less ability" are usually told to keep quiet and let the "more abled" people take control. This happened 2000 years ago, today there does not seem to be any great difference.

Yet he is the one remembered today, 2000 years later. Who were the people who told him to keep quiet? The usual crowd who hid behind each other. And yet again, he is the one Jesus is looking for, like the woman who gave the mite in the temple.

Yes, the people of Jesus' line are usually the famous ones.

KEEP AN EYE OUT FOR THE LESS ABLED AND TALK TO THEM.

Yet again the blind man is not greedy. He does not ask for his sight to be restored. He asks "That I might see." Most of us have sight and good sight. But how much do we see?

The sun is always shining. It is only the clouds that are passing by.

Catholic Legacy Week 1- 7th November 2018

Legacy income is vital for the future of our parishes and diocese and is a valuable and lasting way to be involved in the ministry and mission of the Church for future generations.

Will Aid 2018 is now live, this charity offers a basic Will writing service in exchange for a suggested donation of £95 for a single Will and £150 for a pair of basic "mirror" Wills. To find a local solicitor contact 0300 0309558. www.willaid.org.uk

In Your Name?

A harrowing new documentary has been screened in Parliament called 'Strings Attached' by the Society for the Protection of Unborn Children and sponsored by Labour MP Mary Glendon. It reveals the emotional and psychological harm done to African women by charities funded by the UK Government. They gave £44 million in 2017 to abortion providing charities and have recently pledged another £200 million for family planning in Africa and Asia.

This is done in our name and we are led to believe it is for the greatest good. We are being deceived.
