A Place at my Table

18th September 10:30 am to 1:30 pm
In our church hall.

Join a compassionate chat led by St Christopher's Community Learning Facilitator in Southwark. This session creates a safe space to discuss end-of-life topics openly. Encouraging conversations about death, dying and loss. Engage in thought-provoking discussions, express feelings, and ask questions. All are welcome to embrace these important conversations together.
Refreshment and lunch provided.

Fr Jack

Fr Boniface left on Wednesday to head back to Uganda. He enjoyed his stay among us and thank you for your warm hospitality and making him feel so welcome. I hope you enjoyed his ministry and benefited from it. Long may the relationship continue. Now back to a new academic year and a building of a better world. If not a better world at least a better St. James and a better you and a better Peckham. In the first reading Isaiah says God is coming to save his people. But he has already come and shown us the way, now it is over to us to build with the tools he gave us. We can do it with the power of Him who loves us and lives in us.

What do I mean.....be a lover not a fighter...

Forgive rather than holding grudges,
Help rather than being lazy or resentful,
encourage rather than destroy,
promote rather than being spiteful,
pray rather than laze in front of a screen,
be positive rather than negative.
That's enough to work on for now.
