Giving is the most fulfilling
of all pleasures

Fr Jack

The Prophet Isaiah was around in 800 BC. A long time before Jesus. But yet he had HOPE in his heart. If we do not have hope we are lost. Self explanatory we are hopeless.

The people who have walked in darkness have seen a great light, on those who lived in darkness a light has shone. Jesus continues the same theme. "...the people who lived in darkness have seen a great light."

Then he calls four people to follow Him, He must have been a very attractive character, they immediately follow Him. And they immediately set about preaching the same message of hope.

Have you heard of it? Do you have a lot of hope in your heart? Not something that happens automatically. But we must reflect on it and tell others. That is what makes it grow in our hearts.

It was only when I started preaching and challenging myself, "Is this true for you Jack?" Then tell others about it..

Pope Leo

I am finally vindicated. Not that I need it. Pope Leo this week, in his weekly catechesis concentrated again on Divine Revelation, which last week he called one of the most beautiful and important documents of Vatican Two 1963. Hence I have been saying for 50 years the importance of preparing our Mass and reading the Word of God before we come to church. Then the Word of God will be alive and active in our lives. It will be an internal dynamo driving us from within and Gods Way automatically becomes our Way Then by doing God's will our life becomes virtue rather than drudgery. The Pope stressed that Jesus reveals the Father to us by involving us with his own relationship with him. In the Son sent by God the Father "humanity might in the Holy Spirit have access to the Father and come to share in the divine nature"
